“A JOURNEY” focuses on the rich history of African-Americans by sharing the stories of seven historical women, with Wilson becoming each of them through alteration of voice, physicality, and the drape of a scarf, as well as spirituals sung a cappella. Wilson calls “A JOURNEY” a piece that “celebrates history, courage, hope, faith and love of African-American women... it represents who we are and what we strive for. Audiences can expect to be entertained and educated; there are a wealth of characters and emotions connected to them and every audience member should be able to find a piece of themselves in the show, whether you are man or woman, adult or child.”
